Looking for a new challenge in Western Australia?

Consultant Psychiatrist (Youth)

Applications are sought from Psychiatrists with subspecialty in Youth Mental Health for 2015

Fiona Stanley Hospital

£176,980 – £227,973 ($322,571 – $415,515) p.a. pro rata (inclusive of base salary, 9.5% superannuation, professional development allowance)

Location: Murdoch, Perth, Western Australia

An experienced consultant psychiatrist is required to lead a multidisciplinary team providing an acute in-patient service to cater for the mental health needs of patients in the age range 16–24 years, particularly focusing on those aged 16–17. The service is new and has excellent age appropriate facilities.

The consultant will ensure that the team delivers personalised, safe and timely care, and promotes the organisation’s culture of commitment, accountability, respect and excellence. They will actively address clinical risks and delays in care for individual patients; and educate and supervise junior medical staff and other health workers. They will work with the Head of Specialty and other consultants to manage unplanned and planned demand, achieve national performance outcomes and meet the National Safety and Quality Health Services Standards.
